

low rents

low economic opportunity more (and different) poor people